ABOUT INDIRA MAHINDRA SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Under the Mahindra University umbrella, the Indira Mahindra School of Education (IMSE) will be commencing academic activities in 2021, with the Ph.D program. There are no boundaries to earning a high-quality education with the IMSE - encapsulating unified training, an emphasis on pedagogical concepts, developing moral and cultural programs, and professional and career development of emerging independent individuals.

IMSE's vision is to be a school for preparing the next generation of teachers and school leaders as well as for the study of education where both researchers and practitioners are developed for working in and on educational issues.

The School will be inter-disciplinary in nature drawing on its links with other schools of Mahindra University, especially in the fields of public policy and liberal arts. When we speak education, we mean the study of how people learn, and how they should be taught, in all fields. The field of ethics will be a focus area, taking into view ethical implications for the kinds of decisions different education players across levels and settings undertake.

"At Mahindra, we believe the right education has the greatest potential to contribute to economic inclusivity and to a sustainable development which makes our foray into all segments of education very consistent with our Rise philosophy of business"
